

Toronto CREW 2010 Scholarships

Toronto Commercial Real Estate Women (Toronto CREW) is committed to connecting young women to a career path in commercial real estate. As part of this commitment, Toronto CREW is pleased to announce that seven more scholarships have been awarded to deserving young women pursuing real estate studies for the 2010-11 school year.

Launched in 2006, the Toronto CREW Scholarship Program awards scholarships to female students entering their final year of a degree program specializing in real estate at our partner universities. The scholarships are valued at $3,000 each.

2010's recipients were:

- Heather Ballantyne - Schulich School of Business
- Jennifer Duern - University of Guelph
- Sherena Hussain - Schulich School of Business
- Amanda Leonard - Queen's University
- Kieran Miller - Queen's University
- Erika Sildva - Schulich School of Business
- Ana Stuermer - Queen's University

Two Legacy Award recipients were named as part of Toronto CREW's Scholarship program. Jennifer Duern with the Victoria Joly Legacy Award and Erika Sildva with the Danny Klempfner Legacy Award.

These awards were named in honour of two outstanding contributing and founding CREW Members. The Legacy Awards further support university or college female students that show outstanding leadership and promise for success in the commercial real estate field.

An added benefit of the scholarship program is that recipients are invited to participate in a range of Toronto CREW functions and events, which allows them the opportunity to network with some of the industry's top executives across a range of real estate disciplines. Please extend a warm Toronto CREW welcome at our upcoming events. Upon graduation, scholarship recipients are encouraged to apply for Toronto CREW's Mentorship Program, to support them as they develop their careers in the real estate industry.
